- Teachers have been working closely with Maryann Cucchiara. This work supports language development for all students. Ms. Rosenbaum works closely with MaryAnn to support teachers.
- A few teachers have developed their work so much with Maryann Cucchiara to the point that it positively impacted their instruction and their students, so impressively, that Maryann and the Council of Great City Schools filmed their planning and their classes as part of their project to strengthen instruction and learning across the United States.

PTA Updates:

- P.S 182 shirts have arrived

CEP Goal #4:

- This is the simplest goal.
- Talks about school leadership- who makes decisions for the school and do we do it with the whole school body.
- Every Monday the staff participates in professional learning.
- Over the course of 3 months, teachers met in inquiry teams, which met a total of about 7 times. This is owned/ lead by everybody (teachers/ paraprofessionals) 90% of the time.
- The decisions are also made by the (PLC)- Professional learning committee
- On Monday 2/13, inquiry teams are sharing their findings and best practices. Teachers and paraprofessionals looked at student data and decided changes according to the data.
- Our upcoming professional Mondays will include more planning time.
- We look at what adjustments can we make to help all the students (students with an IEP, ENL, Gen-ed). There is targeted small group work going on all the time in classrooms.
- In the action plan for the CEP goal, the first and second part is the same. We will be adjusting the Professional learning Monday's to 3 Monday's focusing on writing, reading and math by looking at data and it will still be teacher led. On the 4th Monday, teachers will collaborate vertically to discuss trends. Teachers will still be using protocols to look at student data. We will adjust the action plan with our professional Monday.
